

The Governor's Letter to the Legislature of Virginia, was accompanied by 17 Documents; one of which only has yet been presented to the public consideration. Some of these Documents are by no means interesting at the present time, as the substance of several of them has already been communicated to the public thro' other channels; and as some of them relate merely to private and local concerns. Hence, in speaking of all the papers of this class, it is sufficient to make a very general and distant reference.—There remain a few, however, which are calculated to convey some original information on subjects of general importance. All the papers of this class, will therefore be presented in their entire form.

The Paper No. 1.—Is the public notice required by law of the result of the Election of Electors, for choosing a President and Vice President of the United States.

No. 2.—Contains the resignation of Wilton C. Nicholas, and A. B. Venable, as Senators of the United States.—The vacancies thereby produced were filled by a temporary appointment by the Executive Council, of W. B. Giles and Andrew Moore, which have been lately confirmed by the present Legislature. These letters will deserve publication, both on account of the high character which their authors have acquired, and because the event which they separately announce is probably the most interesting incident of their lives.

Norfolk, May 22d, 1801.

Sir, When I passed through Richmond on my journey to this town, I should have presented to your Excellency the resignation of my seat in the Senate of the United States, had I formed the resolution that I have now taken.

The President of the United States having offered to my acceptance the post of Collector of Norfolk, I came hither to decide, after a more accurate view of the subject, what measure I ought to adopt. The high honor that has been conferred upon me by my country, has never ceased to be duly appreciated, with the fullness of gratitude which it so justly demands; and were I not conscious that a successor can readily be found more competent than myself to the duties of a Senator of the United States, nothing would induce me to ask permission to relinquish that respectable station. As it is, however, I trust that I shall not be considered as abandoning that affectionate attachment which I have always professed, and will never fail to prove on any occasion, to my native state, when I enter into an office under the General Government.

Let me entreat your Excellency to receive this as my resignation; and when you communicate it to the General Assembly, suffer me to request them, first, through you, to receive my warmest acknowledgements for their kindness, and to be assured of my devotion to those principles, which have drawn forth their successful efforts towards the establishment of our present happy system of affairs.

I have the honor fir to be, with the highest respect and personal esteem,

Your Excellency's most obed't serv't,
(Signed) W. C. NICHOLAS.
His Excellency John Page, Richmond.

Richmond, July 5th, 1801.

Sir, A variety of considerations have made it necessary that I should resign my situation as a Senator of the United States. You will please to accept this as a notification, in order that the vacancy may be filled, if it should be deemed necessary, by the Executive, before the next meeting of Congress. I cannot help on this occasion, expressing the great regret I feel on relinquishing an office conferred on me by the General Assembly, before the term of service completed, had been completed; but the great length of time that I have been in the public service, has so far disabled me from attending to my private affairs, as to make this measure rather a matter of necessity than of choice.

Be pleased to accept assurances of my high respect, and believe me to be, with great regard,

Your obed't serv't,
(Signed) ABM. B. VENABLE.
His Excellency John Page.

No. 3.—Is the letter from Mr. Monroe, which has already been published.

No. 4.—Is a notification of James Madison, the Secretary of State, of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, respecting the manner of voting for President and Vice President. This notification has been already published.

No. 5.—Is a letter from the Governor of Massachusetts, with certain resolutions of the Legislature of that state, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.—These are commonly called Ely's amendments, and were published soon after their adoption in June of the present year. Mr. Bidwell's Speech in the Senate of Massachusetts, which was concluded in the last No. of this paper, was intended to expose the fallacy and destructive tendency of these celebrated resolutions.

No. 6.—Contains a resolution of the General Assembly of Kentucky, proposing a co-operation on the part of Virginia, with that state, Pennsylvania and the state of Ohio, in opening the rapids of the river Ohio.—The best mode of carrying on the commercial communication between this western country and the ocean, is perhaps at this time one of the most curious and important problems in the political economy of the U. S. Whether the expense of transportation through the Mississippi and its branches is greater or less than the expense of transportation through the waters which empty into the Atlantic ocean, appears to be the simple subject of enquiry. All experimental researches, which are intended to elucidate this question; & every political measure which is adopted to facilitate either mode of transportation, are consequently entitled to our considerate attention. It is on this account that we copy at full length the proceedings of the Kentucky Legislature.

Frankfort, 23d May, 1801.

In compliance with the request of the Legislature of this state, I have the honor of transmitting to your Excellency the inclosed resolution of the General Assembly, and am, with high consideration,

Your Excellency's most obed't serv't,
(Signed) JAMES GARRARD.
His Excellency John Page,
Governor of Virginia,
Richmond.

State of Kentucky.

In General Assembly.

WHEREAS it is important to the citizens of this state, and of the several states bordering on the river Ohio, and who depend on the channel for the conveyance of their produce to market, that the rapids of the said river should be opened, so as to make it more safe for the passage of vessels ascending and descending the said river: Whereas,

Resolved Unanimously, by the Senate and House of Representatives, That the Governor of this state be requested to correspond with the Governors of the states of Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, to ascertain what assistance can be obtained from those states in opening the rapids of the Ohio river, and the amount of the sums either of those states will pay (if any) for that purpose; and the Governor will report the same to the next Legislature.

Approved, December 9th, 1803.

A NEW COLLECTION OF

WAX FIGURES;

SUPERIOR to any in America; among which are a striking likeness and representation of the late unfortunate DUELL, fought between Col. AARON BURR, Vice-President of the United States, and Gen. ALEXANDER HAMILTON, wherein Gen. Hamilton is supported by his second after receiving the mortal wound, while Col. Burr is led from the field by his second—a striking representation of the place where the duel was fought, upon scenery, which adds much to this interesting representation, &c.—and a number of SELECTED FIGURES, chosen from the best selections in America.

ASTONISHING INVISIBLE LADY.

THE ACOUSTIC TEMPLE,

Incomprehensible Crystal, and reflecting Mirror.

Is now exhibiting in Richmond in the cross street leading from the Main Street between the Eagle and the Union Taverns, at the house lately occupied by Mr. Pollard, and since by Mr. Warren, as the Profile-Office.

THE amateurs of science and curious experiments will find in this exhibition the most surprising phenomenon that has ever been discovered in acoustics; the proprietor therefore prefaces to flatter himself that the enlightened and liberal public will honor his performance with the same degree of applause which has so uniformly attended it in Paris, London, Liverpool and New-York.

This inexplicable Acoustic and optical Illusion,

Which professes to expose the practices of artful impostors, pretended magicians, and sorcerers, and to open the eyes of those who still feel an absurd belief in ghosts, witches, conjurations, demoniacs, &c. will enable the attentive observer to form a just idea of the artifices by which they imposed on the credulous and superstitious, in this and former ages; and afford also to the spectator an interesting and pleasing entertainment.

Description of the Exhibition.
In a temple, representing those where the Egyptians delivered their oracles, is a small altar, and a crystal (as described by Dr. Dee, &c.) for consulting spirits. From this proceed the oracles for conveying questions and answers. The whole apparatus is unconnected with surrounding objects.

A conversation may be held on any subject—singing, laughing, breathing, &c. close to the ear of the audience; describing their number, dress, motion, &c. without any visible interference of agency, and in completely deceiving the senses, as to appear to be the effect of magic.

The above wonderful and incomprehensible exhibition, which has excited the astonishment and gratified the curiosity, of the amateurs of science and the public in general, in London, &c. is now exhibiting, with improvements, as above described.

Hours of Exhibition, from 9 o'clock till 1, and from 2 till 6, and from 7 till 9 in the evening.
Admittance 75 cents—Children 50.

On it there are three tenements; the houses are tolerably comfortable, and the fences generally good; at one of those places there is a very good Peach and Apple Orchard, and the Battery itself is a most capital stand for a store and tavern, being half-way between Gloucester and Mathews courthouses, and the inhabitants generally wealthy and punctual in their dealings.
